£230,000

Welcome to Pied-a-terre, a beautifully presented and historic Grade II listed town house, positioned within a conservation area and enjoying one of the finest outlooks in King's Lynn. Overlooking the renowned public gardens known as The Walks and with views towards St John's Church, this characterful home blends original period features with thoughtful modern improvements. The property is ideally situated within easy walking distance of the mainline railway station, offering connections to Cambridge and London, and benefits from excellent access to the town centre. Accommodation is arranged over four floors and has been enhanced with new Rointe electric heaters throughout. The ground floor features a generous entrance hall with stairs descending to the basement level, where a useful utility room provides direct access to the rear garden. Stairs rise to the first floor, comprising a cloakroom, a well-appointed kitchen, and a bright sitting room with doors leading to a balcony that enjoys beautiful views across The Walks. The upper floors now offer two bedrooms, alongside a spacious bathroom fitted with both a bathtub and a quadrant shower, creating a comfortable and versatile living arrangement. Externally, the property enjoys a small shared courtyard to the front. To the rear is a private garden, shared with the adjoining freeholder, featuring established planting, low-maintenance patio areas, and a selection of shrubs.
