Full Details

Overview

An excellent opportunity to acquire a secluded and private smallholding extending to 6.35 acres (2.57 hectares), set in a sheltered valley position in the rural location of Sylen, near the village of Llannon, Carmarthenshire.

The property includes a 3-bedroom traditional Welsh farmhouse, which has been sympathetically modernised and renovated some 20 years ago, with an attached partly converted 2-bedroom annex with an interconnecting sunroom, providing scope for completion works and personalisation.

The property benefits from a further range of buildings, including a Dutch Barn with side lean-to, a double garage with plant room, and a further workshop / garage / storage, offering potential for conversion or alternative uses, subject to obtaining the necessary planning consent.

The land comprises a mixture of clean grazing land, suitable for grazing and cutting amounting to approx. 2.41 acres, with the remainder being improvable grazing land and semi-natured woodland and bushes, being a swarm for local wildlife.

Tirmynydd offers excellent lifestyle appeal, combining privacy, versatility, and the potential to create a multi-generational family home, holiday letting opportunity, or conservation-focused retreat.

Situation

Tirmynydd is located in a sheltered valley near Sylen, on the outskirts of Llannon, enjoying a private setting being surrounded by its own land, with partial distant views over the surrounding Carmarthenshire countryside.

The property lies 3 miles in equidistance from the village of Pontyberem, Llannon and Five Roads in the Sylen area of Carmarthenshire. All three villages offer a wide range of local amenities and services, including primary schools, convenience stores, pubs, and regular bus services.

The town of Llanelli lies approximately 6 miles to the south, providing a broader range of shops, supermarkets, and services. Excellent road connections are available, with the M4 corridor accessible within 15 minutes, linking Swansea, Carmarthen, and Cardiff and beyond.

Grounds & Gardens

The property is approached via a private farm lane (Right of Way) shared with one neighbour, with the lane being private before entering into the homestead via a gated entrance with open yard area around the buildings with ample parking area for multiple vehicles on gravel areas, whilst the lane continues around up to the paddock, front of the double garage and the farmhouse.

The farmhouse itself benefits from grounds to the front and rear, being a blank canvas for the avid gardener with raised beds, flower beds, shrubs and bushes, plus several patio / seating areas in need of finishing works. The area is ideal for socialising and entertaining
