Cranston Road
Forest Hill

Read all about it...

Set on a residential street in Forest Hill, this three-bedroom terraced house on Cranston Road offers a spacious layout, great natural light, and a generous rear garden. It has some original features still in place and plenty of potential to update and add value over time.

The ground floor includes a traditional entrance hall, two reception rooms (one opening directly to the garden), and a compact but functional kitchen with garden access. Upstairs, there are two good-sized double bedrooms, a smaller third room ideal as a study or nursery, and a family bathroom. There's also handy under-stairs storage.

Outside, the large garden is a great spot for relaxing or entertaining, especially in warmer months.

Forest Hill and Honor Oak Park stations are both nearby, offering easy links into London Bridge and Canada Water. The area is well connected with local parks, schools, shops and cafés all within easy reach, making this a great base in south-east London. A straightforward home with loads of potential to make it your own.
