PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Nestled in the charming Lakeland village of Hartsop along the Patterdale Valley, and boasting views from every window, sits this most attractive, four bedroom, detached residence. If you are looking to enjoy an incredible rural lifestyle, then look no further ... welcome to Styan Bew.

With a name that refers to a 'stone structure/dwelling', this beautiful home sits proud amongst the incredible backdrop of Lakeland fells including Hartsop Dodd and Dove Cragg. Of bespoke construction circa 1994, the design and build of the property belies the appearance - which could be mistaken to date from the 1600's, due to the sympathetic use of local materials wherever possible, and thoughtful consideration to the display of character and charm throughout.

The accommodation is well-proportioned, offering an excellent degree of versatility, and includes two generous reception rooms, cottage kitchen - complete with forest green Aga, a super utility, office/hobby room, four double bedrooms, two bathrooms and ample storage. This is complemented by the attractive gardens that encompass Styan Bew and house an array of flowers and shrubs that provide a haven for nature and wildlife including red squirrels. The sound of Pasture Beck adds to the tranquillity of the setting, which is a delight to experience in this private south-facing garden. The property also benefits from a private parking space with the advantage of a 7kw car charging point, and useful sheds which offer additional external storage options.
