The Property

The property is entered into a generous entrance hall with original oak wood flooring and wood panelling. This opens out directly into the generous kitchen and offers both wall and base units with coordinating work surfaces. A freestanding island sits below Jim Lawrence lighting providing a perfect focal point.

A door leads to an inner hall with pantry cupboard, which in turn leads to a utility and shower room. From the main hall, a door leads to a superb light and bright open plan dining room with engineered Oak smoked flooring from the Luxury Flooring Co and a wood burner set on a stone hearth.

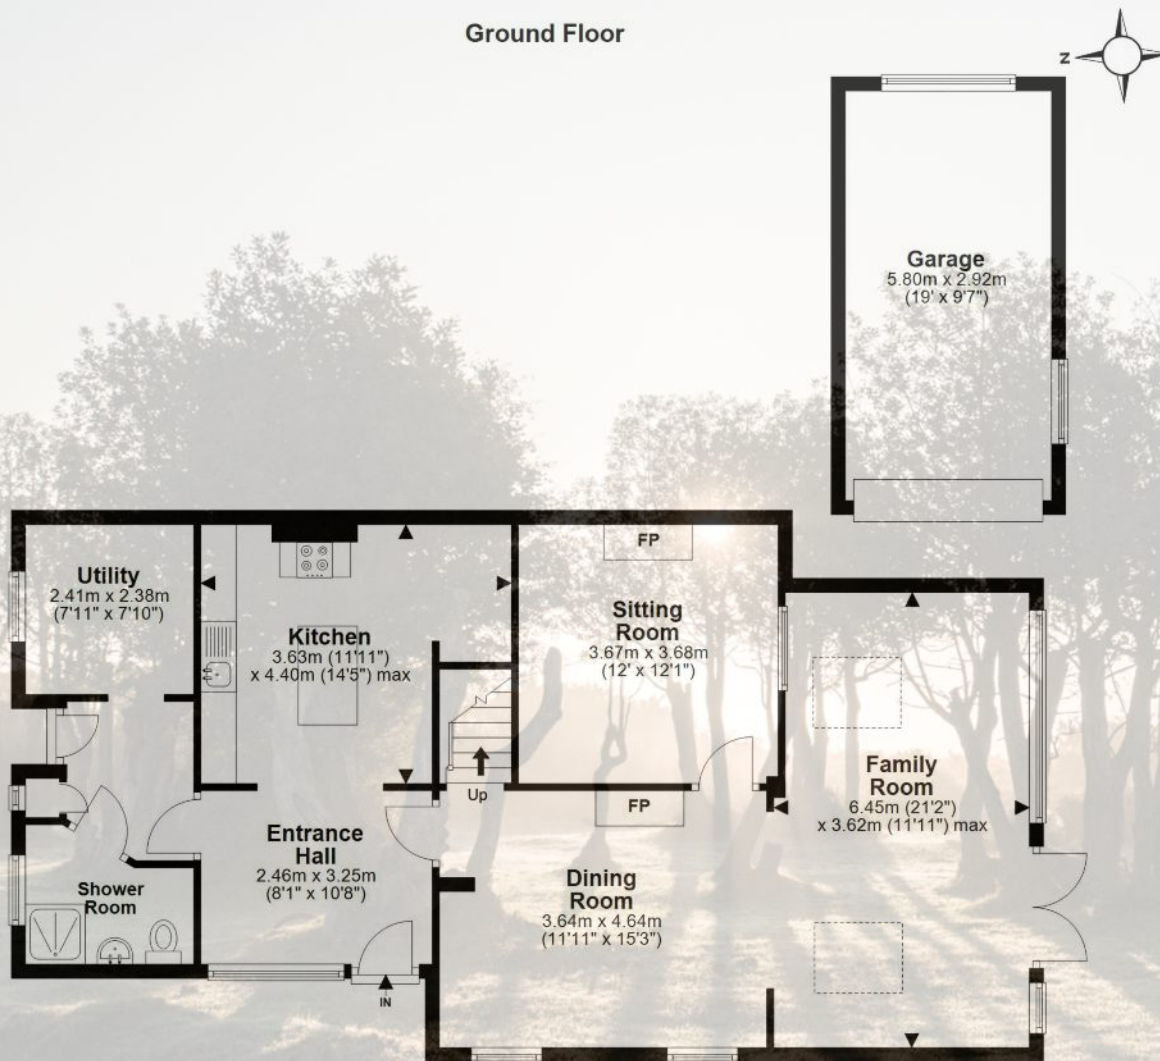

Steps lead down to the spacious family room with far reaching views across the valley beyond and access out onto the garden. A cosy sitting room with cinema style lighting provides an ideal snug/cinema room with open fire and completes the ground floor accommodation.

A sliding barn door leads to the stairs up to the first floor accommodation. There are four double bedrooms in total with the principal bedroom streaming with light from dual aspect windows as well as the second largest bedroom, with uninterrupted views across woodland and countryside. The two rear rooms both have a period fireplace feature.

All bedrooms are serviced by a beautifully appointed family bathroom with Burlington suite and marble tops. Fixtures and fitting throughout are from Corston Architectural and Jim Lawrence.
