Interior

The main outside door leads into a double glazed storm porch with main front door to hallway. There is a through lounge measuring some 24ft with a round bay front aspect window and double door leading through to the extended dining room with sliding door out to the rear garden and door leading through to the extended galley style 19ft kitchen with door leading to rear garden. Stairs from the hallway lead up to the first floor landing, which has access hatch to loft space and doors to all rooms, Bedroom one has fitted sliding door wardrobes and window to front aspect. Bedroom two has window overlooking the rear garden and bedroom three a single bedroom with window to front aspect. Completing the first floor is the bathroom and has a double shower, pedestal wash hand basin, low level WC, storage cupboard and two frosted windows to rear aspect.

Exterior

The front garden is mainly laid to lawn with own driveway providing off road parking for up to four cars, leading to the detached garage at the start of the rear garden. The rear garden starts with a concreted patio area and extends in excess of 200ft, I would best describe this in three areas the main garden closest to the patio which is mainly laid to lawn, this extends through to where there are two greenhouses and a timber built shed, this continues to join a second area that is also lawned and very secluded. Followed by a third area which is slightly more overgrown that leads down to ‘The Bigley Ditch’ a tributary of the River Colne, which also has other branches like the Wraysbury River. The Bigley Ditch is still a recognizable feature in the area, marking the boundary between Iver and West Drayton.
