Location

Castle Hedingham is a picturesque village in north Essex, England, known for its rich medieval heritage and quintessential English countryside charm. The village takes its name from the impressive Hedingham Castle, a remarkably well-preserved Norman keep built in the 12th century, which remains one of the finest examples of its kind in the country.

Surrounded by rolling farmland and scenic walking routes, Castle Hedingham offers a peaceful rural lifestyle while still being within easy reach of larger towns such as Colchester and Braintree. The village features a traditional high street with independent shops, period cottages, welcoming pubs, and a strong sense of community, making it a highly desirable location for those seeking character and countryside living.
