Dating back to 1842 this beautiful cottage was designed by the accomplished Scottish architect William Young who also designed Holme Hall for William Wallace MP. William Young went on to design a number of prestigious properties cumulating in Chelsea House, Cadogan Place, for Earl Cadogan. He also wrote several books on architecture and in particular 'Town & Country Mansions and Suburban Houses' published in London and New York. William Young was admitted to the FRIBA in 1891. In more recent times the property has been enhanced, improved and extended by the present owners who have thoroughly enjoyed living here for over twenty five years. Retaining charm and character throughout the rooms are spacious and versatile so can be adopted to meet a buyers needs. The spacious living room features a beautiful multi fuel stove set within an attractive stone fireplace, double doors lead through to the dining room which has a feature exposed brick built chimney breast with an electric log effect stove and leaded light serving hatch to the foyer. The country style cottage kitchen is an excellent size room and overlooks the beautiful rear garden. The foyer leads to the cloakroom and then garden room which could potentially be used as a fourth bedroom which then leads to the ground floor shower room/drying room. To the first floor are two excellent sized bedrooms and a single bedroom along with a four piece bathroom. Externally, a five bar gate opens to the gravel driveway with ample parking. The rear garden has been tastefully landscaped and features a detached Summer House with a wood burning stove making a perfect home office.
