Description

A thoughtfully designed conversion of the original double garage for Apple Tree Cottage which has been transformed into a two-storey dwelling. The accommodation is versatile and could be reconfigured depending on need. At present, the ground floor is a mainly open-plan living space with a kitchen, dining area and sitting room spanning the house and with glazed doors to the front and back. Adjoining the living area are two further rooms, a shower room and a room currently without a window but with the possibility of adding one and creating a useful ground floor bedroom, snug or office. Across the rear of the property is a handy garden room which is not only a comfortable place to sit and relax but currently has space for a utility, workshop and provides extra storage space.

Upstairs, there are two rooms and an ensuite shower room. At present, the larger room is a living space, and the smaller room is a bedroom, but it could be used as a principal suite with a double bed in the larger room and the smaller room could be a dressing area and walk-in wardrobe. There is also a useful kitchenette area at the top of the stairs.

Outside, a driveway provides parking for a number of vehicles and there is a landscaped formal garden to the side and rear of the property. A handy shed provides storage space for garden equipment and furniture. The annexe is fitted with modern, owned solar panels, and a battery.
