Opportunity to purchase outstanding properties such as Haselour House are particularly rare, and this wonderful example of a gorgeous Georgian country home is a true delight. Set on the edge of the pretty village of Harlaston within the heart of Staffordshire countryside the property has a commanding position with beautiful grounds and gardens extending to nearly 14 acres. Dating back to approximately 1734 the Grade 2 Listed property originally formed part of the historic De-Trafford estate. The elegant and spacious interiors with versatility in the accommodation use are inherently suited to this wonderful style of grand living. Attention to detail and some thoughtful renovations have been undertaken by the present owners including the stunning open plan family dining kitchen and elegant drawing room with oak panelling. The bedroom accommodation is arranged across the first and second floors with six generous bedrooms, two of which are en suite and one with a dressing room, and there are two further bathrooms. Sitting in splendid south facing grounds, the gardens are laid to extensive lawns with two paddocks and a range of useful outbuildings, along with a pretty summerhouse and useful detached home studio/office. A truly magnificent home with its lovely location so convenient not only for Lichfield and Tamworth but also the excellent road and rail network which serves the area - an early viewing would be strongly recommended.
