

Oakwood Estates is thrilled to offer for sale this exquisite detached Edwardian property, boasting five bedrooms, four reception rooms, and two bathrooms with a downstairs WC. Built in the 1930s, this remarkable home is situated on a highly coveted road in North Uxbridge, offering serene views over Uxbridge Common—an opportunity seldom found. With the added advantage of being chain-free, this property presents an ideal prospect. Conveniently located less than 1000 meters from Uxbridge Underground Station, residents can enjoy effortless access to local shops, amenities, and excellent transportation links. Additionally, the property offers ample parking space for over six cars and features an impressive rear garden, further enhancing its appeal.

Upon entering the property, we are welcomed by a magnificent grand entrance hallway adorned with a staircase ascending to the first floor. The hallway grants access to various rooms, including two front receptions, a cloakroom, a kitchen, and elegant wooden flooring throughout. To the right-hand side, the first reception room awaits, boasting a generous bay window that offers a delightful view of the front surroundings. This room offers ample space to accommodate either a living area or a dining arrangement. Adjacent to it, underneath the stairs, a convenient cloakroom can be found, equipped with a low-level WC and a hand wash basin. The kitchen, boasting a considerable size, boasts a window overlooking the picturesque rear garden. It features a tasteful blend of shaker-style kitchen units, both at eye level and base level, along with a stainless steel sink and drainer. Additional amenities include a gas hob with an extractor fan positioned above it, an integrated oven, grill, and microwave. There is ample room for an American-style fridge freezer, and the tiled flooring adds a touch of elegance. From the kitchen, doors lead to both the utility room and the rear reception area. The utility room, complementing the kitchen's style, offers practical eye-level and base storage units. It features a tiled splashback, a stainless steel sink, and sufficient space for utility appliances. The room also houses the boiler, mega flow system, and a door and window that lead to the side aspect of the property. Stepping into the rear reception room, we are greeted by the inviting presence of French doors and windows, providing access to the enchanting rear garden. This room can be flexibly furnished to serve as either a living area or a dining space. Currently, the primary living and dining area has been transformed into a bedroom. It showcases a generous bay window overlooking the front aspect, adding a touch of grandeur. A focal point of the room is the fireplace, complete with a wood-burning stove. The area offers ample space for living room furniture. Continuing through to the dining room, one can admire the windows that grant views of the side and rear aspects. French doors lead to the rear garden, and this room easily accommodates various dining room furniture pieces, creating an ideal setting for gatherings and meals.
