Area Information

The Parish of Alkham is in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and is situated between Dover and Folkestone on the edge of the North Downs which includes rolling pastureland interspersed with swathes of woodland.

Alkham is situated about 3 miles from the A2 trunk road and about 6 miles from the M20. Both these major roads give access to the motorway network systems. The Channel Tunnel at Folkestone (about 8 miles) and Ashford International Station (about 16 miles) provide regular services to the Continent. There are superstores on the White Cliffs Business Park at Whitfield (about 4 miles), and there are shops in the nearby villages of River and Temple Ewell for day-to-day needs.

Dover Priory and Folkestone West both benefit from the high speed rail service, which has greatly reduced the journey time to London to just over one hour. The famous White Cliffs of Dover is just a 10-minute drive to reach the National Trust car park with a great visitor centre. The cathedral city of Canterbury (about 15 miles) provides a wide range of shopping, cultural and sporting amenities. There are good schools locally, both in the independent and state sectors.
