Property Description

A rare chance to acquire a substantial and highly adaptable five-bedroom seaside home, an impressive C-listed detached Victorian villa (circa 1850s). Enjoying an outstanding coastal setting with far-reaching views across the Firth of Forth towards the Edinburgh skyline. Positioned on the seafront forming a cul-de-sac pinicual, and well-placed for the town centre of Burntisland, Fife. Set over three levels, the property combines classic period architecture with generous, flexible accommodation suited to modern family living. Comprises: an entrance cloakroom, hall, two large public rooms, a dining room, kitchen, five flexible bedrooms, a playroom, two bathrooms and a WC.

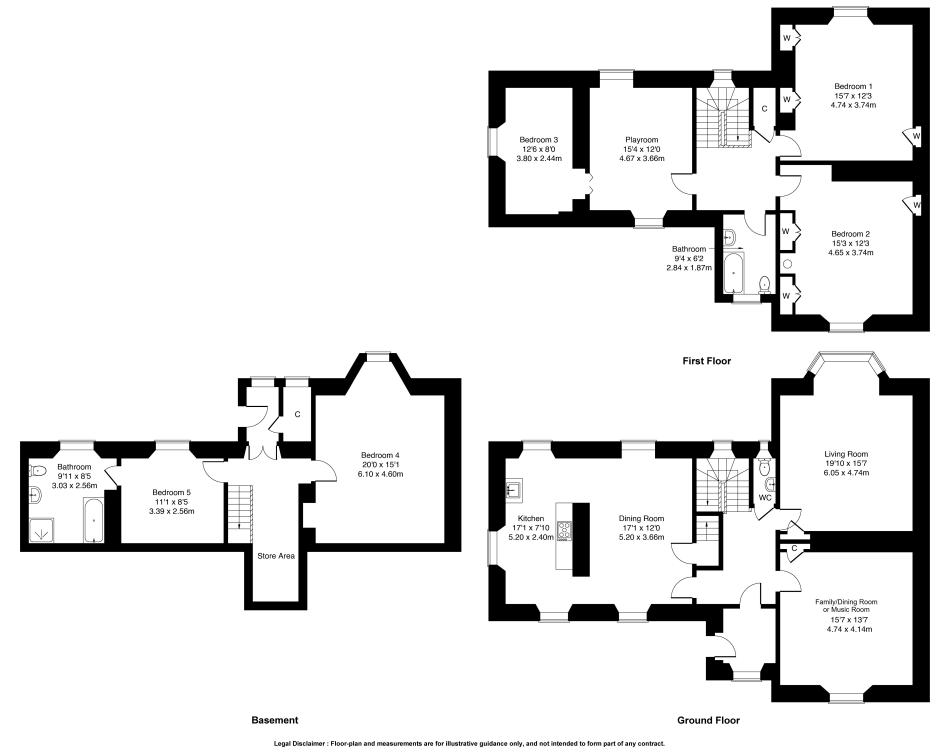

The property retains a strong sense of character, with notable features including high ceilings, decorative corncicing, working window shutters, bay windows, and period fireplaces. In addition, there is a fitted kitchen with appliances, superb storage, modern gas central heating, double-glazed windows, an alarm system, and optimal fibre connection, with GoFibre. Externally, a generous plot provides multi-vehicle parking and an EV point, together with lawns, planting beds, established trees and shrubbery,

The ground floor is entered via a welcoming cloakroom, opening onto the reception hall, which provides access throughout the ground-floor accommodation, along with a convenient WC and staircase to the upper level. To the rear, the impressive living room is beautifully positioned to take full advantage of the coastal outlook, with a striking bay window framing the views. This elegant space is further enhanced by ornate corncicing and a characterful fireplace with a stone surround and provision for a stove. To the front, a versatile music room offers flexibility as a sitting room, family room, or a formal dining space, depending on requirements. The kitchen enjoys a bright triple-aspect orientation, allowing for an abundance of natural light, and is fitted with a range of traditional units and appliances, including a 5-ring electric hob, an eye-level oven, a dishwasher, and a fridge/freezer, with a washing machine housed in the basement. Adjacent lies a generously proportioned dining room with dual-aspect windows, creating an ideal setting for entertaining and providing access to the lower ground floor. The basement level offers excellent additional accommodation, including two bedrooms, useful storage, and a bathroom, presenting further flexibility for extended family living or guest space.

A charming staircase rises to the upper landing, where two particularly spacious double bedrooms are positioned on opposite sides of the property, both benefiting from built-in storage. A further dual-aspect room offers versatility as a playroom, study, or an additional bedroom and leads through to bedroom three. The accommodation on this level is completed by a well-proportioned family bathroom.
