The ground floor opens into a series of well-proportioned living spaces that work seamlessly for both everyday life and entertaining. The kitchen, fitted with a range of modern units and a Rangemaster style cooker sits neatly to the front, while the main living areas are positioned to take full advantage of the natural light and outlook. Double doors lead through to a generous sitting space, which in turn opens out to the garden and pontoon via French doors, creating a strong connection between inside and outside. A separate dining area enjoys multiple aspects and offers an ideal setting for family meals or hosting guests.
