Local Information

Lambourn is a popular village lying just north of the M4 Motorway between Swindon and Newbury in the North/West corner of West Berkshire. The village is particularly famous for its association with the training of the world's finest race horses, being England's second largest centre and is home to a rehabilitation centre for injured jockeys and an equine hospital. Lambourn is a lovely place to live if you enjoy the tranquillity of the countryside combined with the modern facilities of a thriving village. It has many amenities including a library, two grocery shops, a hairdresser, a chemist, doctors surgery, a butcher, a bakery, veterinary clinic and a wide variety of public houses and restaurants. The village also has a number of sports and social clubs including tennis, bowls, football and cricket. The Lambourn Downs are part of the North Wessex Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, forming an elevated chalk landscape of subtle curves from The Ridgeway in the north to the River Kennet in the South. Sparsely populated, the Downlands possess a strong sense of remoteness and isolation. The carefully managed gallops which are also found here have produced some of the most famous names in English horse racing In terms of communications, Junction 14 of the M4 is approximately 6 miles from the town centre providing access into London (East) and Wales (West). The nearest train station is in the village of Hungerford which is approximately 9 miles south of Lambourn.
