Description

With all the charm and character of a Victorian stone-built cottage blended sympathetically with modern style and comforts this four-bedroom central village home with its stunning garden, outbuildings, and parking, is hidden treasure.

The pretty cottage exterior gives little away as to the full extent of the sizeable interior. It retains many attractive features, including wooden window shutters, original flagstone flooring and floorboards. The two reception rooms at the front of the house are well-proportioned and each has a feature fireplace, one of which houses a log burning stove. Beautiful flagstones run from the larger of the two rooms through the hall. The fabulous kitchen extension provides a light and spacious hub with a contemporary ivory/wood/slate-style finish. Fitted wall and base units include an integrated dishwasher and Belfast sink, and there is space for a Rangemaster cooker and a fridge/freezer. Extra storage space can be found in the original walk-in pantry, fully fitted out with shelving, and in the utility room where there is also a sink, space for a washing machine, and door to a handy cloakroom. The living space continues, across the drive, with a beautiful garden room, festooned in wisteria, with French doors opening out to the spectacular garden.

Upstairs the two light and spacious double bedrooms to the front have stripped floorboards and charming recessed windows with wooden shutters. A versatile smaller bedroom, currently a study, is next to the family shower room, and has the potential to be a dressing room or perhaps a nursery. A final flight of stairs leads up to the master suite which stretches the width of the house, has a contemporary ensuite shower room, and enjoys views across the garden at the rear. Storage is hidden away throughout the house in recesses, under stairs, in the eaves and in a window seat. Underfloor heating runs through one of the sitting rooms, the kitchen and is also in the garden room.

Outside

The exquisite, landscaped garden is stunning and a complete oasis from vibrant village life. It is level and thoughtfully designed with a central lawn, mature borders, and pathway to a kitchen garden with raised beds. The conversion of a stone outbuilding to a fully double glazed, underfloor heated, garden room with a stable door and French doors to a garden terrace, is a fabulous addition to the property. A shingle driveway at the side of the house leads through a five-bar gate to the garage which has an electric roller door, and stairs up to a second floor currently used for storage but with potential to be converted (subject to consents). The garage has a workshop attached to one side and the garden room to the other. A bank of owned solar panels runs across the tiled, pitched roof, providing free electricity and an income.
