In the background, there is a large field of golden-brown crops, possibly wheat or barley, and rolling hills under a cloudy sky. A small stream or path runs through the foreground.

Property Description

Cloverfield has been under the ownership of its current custodians for a number of years, during which time the home has served as a hub to their family and they have cultivated an extensive catalogue of trees, flora and fauna throughout the grounds which extend to a little over 2.5 acres. The home sits in a elevated position over the land towards the northerly edge and the accommodation comprises of a living room, kitchen, study, utility, bathroom and two bedrooms to the ground floor with a further master bedroom suite and reception space to the first floor. The home, in our opinion, boasts a vast amount of scope to be remodelled and developed (STPP).

Gardens and Grounds

The grounds of the home comprise of ancient nature oak on the parish boundary, plus oaks and field maples in the other hedges, with a collection of trees and shrubs collected from around the world and planted over the last 32 years. (A list of species and varieties are available). A central area is given over to wildflower hay meadows and the plot supports a rich variety of nature and wildlife.

For parking, the home has a driveway and detached double garage.
