In the heart of Baldock, this characterful Victorian end-of-terrace combines period features with modern practicality, including a log-burning stove, three well-proportioned double bedrooms, and a fully insulated garden office pod with power, heating and internet. With the town centre and mainline station within easy reach, it's an ideal home for families, professionals and commuters.

The home begins with a welcoming entrance hall complete with a useful cloakroom/WC. The front lounge is bright and inviting, centred around an attractive log burner. An archway opens into the separate dining room, where a bay window and cast-iron fireplace create a perfect setting for family meals and entertaining. The kitchen is fitted with solid oak cabinetry and granite worktops, with a classic butler sink and characterful, vintage-style appliances. A door leads directly out to the rear garden, ideal for summer dining and easy day-to-day access.

Upstairs, the property continues to impress with three good-sized bedrooms. The principal bedroom with a large window to the front aspect is flooded with natural light and retains the character of the property with exposed brickwork, while the remaining two bedrooms enjoy pleasant views over the garden. A tasteful family bathroom comprising a WC, hand wash basin and a full size bath with shower over the top completes the first floor.

Outside, the private rear garden offers a peaceful, easy to enjoy space for relaxing and entertaining. A standout feature is the purpose-built garden office pod, fully insulated and fitted with heating, power and internet connectivity. With two full-size double windows on two sides, it is wonderfully bright and gives a great view of the garden, making it an ideal year-round home office, studio or hobby room.

Beautifully decorated throughout and retaining many character features, the property is within easy walking distance of Baldock town centre and the mainline railway station, offering regular services to London Kings Cross and Cambridge.

Early viewing is highly recommended to fully appreciate the charm, versatility and superb location this home has to offer.
