Vendor comments "We first fell in love with this home just over twenty years ago while both working in London. From the very beginning, it offered a setting that felt quietly exceptional. A gentle walk leads to East Croydon station, while a beautiful park rests close by and a welcoming primary school stands just across the road. The position felt effortless for daily life, while the generous proportions promised space to grow.

The house provided the perfect foundation for family life with a wonderfully wide garden that became a private retreat filled with laughter, summer gatherings and calm evenings beneath open skies. Soon after moving in, the property was fully rewired while one of the garages was thoughtfully transformed into a light-filled kitchen-dining space that became the true heart of the home.

Now that our children have begun their own journeys, we find ourselves ready for a smaller home. Leaving this house carries real emotion. It has given us years of memories, security and joy. This is a home that has grown with us, protected us and celebrated life with us.

We hope the next family will step inside and feel the same quiet magic that first welcomed us all those years ago".
