Description

Bisley Road is a well presented end-of-terrace Victorian home, located on one of Stroud's most sought-after residential roads. The area is well known for its vibrant and welcoming community, as well as its convenient access to the town's shops, amenities and train station. Just along the road are the Daisy Bank and a variety of country walks, offering a wonderful balance of town and countryside living. Built in traditional red brick beneath a pitched tiled roof, the property combines period character with a practical layout. The entrance hall leads to a bay-fronted living room on the left, featuring an enclosed wood burner, while the hallway continues through to a reception room with stairs down to the lower ground floor. The lower ground level offers a well-proportioned kitchen, a dining room/snug with feature fireplace, a family bathroom and direct access to the rear garden. From the reception room, stairs rise to the first floor, where you'll find the main bedroom (15'2 x 12'8), an additional bedroom and a family bathroom. The second floor provides two further bedrooms, one of which enjoys attractive views across the surrounding area.

Outside

The property enjoys a generous rear garden, positioned on the sunny side of the hill and offering superb views across the Golden Valley from both the house and the upper levels of the garden. A front terrace provides a sheltered suntrap, perfect for alfresco dining. Steps lead down to a lawned area bordered by mature shrubs, while the rest of the garden is largely laid to lawn and planted with a wide variety of fruit trees. Additional features include a useful storage area beneath the terrace, a brick-built storage shed and side access leading to the front. At the front of the property, a redbrick wall with a pathway leading to the front door.

Location

It's with good reason that Stroud was voted 'Best place to live in the UK 2021' by The Sunday Times. Sitting at the point at which five valleys converge, and surrounded by rolling hills within the Cotswold Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Stroud is a small town with a huge heart, which has captured the imagination of many over the years. There's plenty to see and do - Stroud has a great variety of shops, cafes, pubs and amenities, including a busy leisure centre, library, museum and award-winning weekly farmers' market. Many of Stroud's shops are independent and family-run. More recent development has seen the relaunch of the Five Valleys shopping centre and the town also has a cinema, ten-pin bowling and a central gym. Stroud has a proud, thriving local community, one steeped in music, art, creativity and environmental issues. There is a wealth of countryside on the doorstep, including three beautiful commons, as well as walks along the historic canal and River Frome. Parents can take their pick from a range of good schools, including a comprehensive and two grammar schools, and there is also a college of further and higher education. Stroud is also superbly placed for access to the M5 and has a direct line train service to London.
